Fired policeman takes board to court

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The city's decision to fire police officer Jerry Duncan was "erroneous, illegal, void, arbitrary, capricious, and without legal or factual basis," according to Duncan's attorney Melroy B. Hutnick.

Hutnick filed a complaint Wednesday with the Madison County Circuit Court asking for an administrative review of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners' decision to discharge Duncan from the police force.

The complaint, which names commissioners Leland Ambuehl, Linda Irwin and Edward Dewey Melton and Police Chief Don Knight, lists 15 reasons the decision should be overturned.

The board found Duncan guilty at a closed hearing Oct. 22 of failing to report for work Aug. 11 and failing to properly advise his supervisor of his intention to use a sick day. The board then held a second closed hearing to consider Duncan's overall record before deciding on a penalty.

In its final decision dated Oct. 29, the board said that, while the Aug. 11 incident alone wasn't sufficient reason for discharge, Duncan's record showed a repeated pattern of misconduct and despite warnings and previous disciplinary action, (Duncan) has failed to rectify his shortcomings.

According to the board's decision, Duncan had two previous unauthorized absences in 1980 and five in 1989. It said Duncan had also been suspended in 1988 for unprofessional conduct and suspended in 1978 for a shooting incident.

One of the charges in the complaint concerns memos on Duncan's alleged misconduct that Knight allegedly sent to the board prior to charges being filed.

Those memos were also the subject of a hearing in Madison County Circuit Court prior to the board hearing. At that time, a judge ruled the memos were not a sufficient reason to disqualify the commissioners from hearing the case.

Knight said the memos were addressed to the board for clerical reasons and were not actually sent.

The complaint filed Wednesday also charged that the decision was unsupported by the evidence; that the commissioners were biased

61 seeking jobs with Shimkus

By Ed Gurney
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — A total of 61 people applied for five available jobs as deputies to John Shimkus, who takes office as Madison County treasurer next week.

The list has been reduced to 10 finalists, including the only three current deputies who submitted applications, Shimkus said.

"I was excited over the number of resumes and the quality of the resumes," Shimkus said. "There were people from all over."

Shimkus, 32, of Collinsville, a Republican, upset Democratic incumbent Mick Henkhaus of Bethalto in this month's election, winning a four-year term as county treasurer.

Dan Wrigley, a Collinsville accountant who was Shimkus' campaign manager and treasurer, helped Shimkus review the applications and reduce the number of candidates.

None of the seven non-deputy finalists worked in his campaign, Shimkus said.

He said he was "almost 100 percent sure" none of them contributed to his campaign.

Shimkus said he would like to hire Wrigley, but that both men decided Wrigley should not be considered.

If Wrigley was hired, some people might contend it was only because he worked for the campaign, Shimkus said.

Metro Link operating funds uncertain

By David Migoya
Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — With nearly three years to complete Metro Link, officials now are becoming increasingly concerned about the system's projected operational costs — and whether the light rail system will be up and running once it is completed.

Although a study by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council released in June hinted at the need for an Illinois sales tax increase to meet operating costs, a recent shortfall in St. Louis sales tax revenues and increasing fuel prices have placed a further damper on what was once a positive outlook.

"It's very possible that we'll have the whole system up and ready to go, but no money to run it," said Les Sierman, executive director of East-West Gateway.

Currently, the 18-mile, $228-million rail line is scheduled to run from East St. Louis to Lambert-St. Louis International Airport. It is scheduled to

$12,000 in Sharpeis left in vacant house

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

MADISON — More than a dozen Sharpei dogs were discovered Friday by a landlord in a house that was supposed to be vacant.

The dogs, covered with fleas and suffering colic, were found unattended in a house in the 1900 block of Fifth Street, just outside the city limits in East Madison. The house appeared to be otherwise vacant and neighbors said the tenant had been there earlier in the day moving things out.

The landlord said his tenant was to have moved out by Wednesday. Neighbors said the dogs had lived there about two months.

At the request of the landlord, Phyllis Kelly, a cruelty officer with the Association for the Protection of Animals, went to the house Friday evening.

Kelly said there was no doubt in her mind the tenant was operating a "puppy mill," but said she was unable to contact state officials because of the holiday weekend. She said Sharpei dogs sell for about $1,000.

Both Kelly and a sheriff's deputy called to the scene advised the landlord to wait until Monday morning so the state could authorize removal of the dogs.

However, after the landlord made it clear he would get rid of the dogs immediately even if he had to turn them free or kill them, Kelly agreed to take them if the landlord wrote out an authorization statement.

After a discussion, the deputy agreed to make

Woolworth's will stay put

By Bob State
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Woolworth's is staying put in downtown.

In spite of an exodus of some retailers from the block bounded by 19th, State and 20th streets and Edison Avenue, and inclusion of that block in the city's latest downtown redevelopment plan, Mark Nagrocki, manager of Woolworth's, said the dime store is not moving.

It has operated successfully at 19th and Edison for three-quarters of a century, and is downtown's largest retailer.

Butler Floor Co. is moving from 1337 19th St. to a new location (1312 19th St.). J.D. Hudson Jewelers at the corner of 19th and State is going out of business.

With Magna Bank buying some buildings in the area, and the city purchasing the Washington Theater building, there has been much speculation about the block, Nagrocki said.

"First (I heard) we were moving to the old Shop & Save building (in Bellemore Village). We got that (rumor) stopped. Now the rumor is going again, but now it's the old Schnuck's building (in Crossroads Plaza)," the Woolworth manager said.

Costello heads to Saudi Arabia

WASHINGTON — U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Ill., and other members of Congress will see first-hand American military operations in the Persian Gulf as part of a bi-partisan congressional delegation leaving for a six-day tour of the region on Sunday.

"At a time when the American people are becoming more and more concerned about the potential for war, this visit will be a timely opportunity for members of Congress to review U.S. operations in Saudi Arabia," Costello said.

The delegation will leave the United States on Nov. 25 and return on Nov. 30, spending several days with American military personnel in Saudi Arabia. It will be only the second organized congressional delegation to visit the region since President George Bush ordered American troops to Saudi Arabia in early August. Iraq invaded Kuwait on Aug. 2 and there was concern that Iraq next would invade Saudi Arabia.

"There is great public debate about a resolution of war, or at least a resolution of assent from Congress, in light of the President's military actions," Costello said.

"It is possible that this trip will add to Congressional support, or perhaps raise further questions, regarding our efforts in opposing

3 booked; 2 police hurt

Five Pontoon Beach police officers and two Madison County sheriff's deputies were required to quell a disturbance between a bouncer and two customers at Remington's Restaurant and Lounge, 77 Chouteau Trace, on Nov. 13.

Greg Martin Jr., 23, and Greg Martin Sr., 47, both of Troeckler Lane, Mitchell, were each charged with aggravated battery as a result of a dispute with bouncer Russell D. Losing, 29, of Florissant. Losing was charged with obstructing a police officer as a result of the incident.

The Martins and Losing were fighting when Pontoon Beach police arrived at Remington's, according to Chief Chet Ballew. Officers managed to remove the three men from the building, but the brawl continued on the parking lot.

Two police officers sustained minor injuries when the younger Martin allegedly struck one with his fist and another with his head. It is alleged that the elder Martin kicked an officer.

All three men were transferred to the Madison County Jail, Edwardsville, where they were released after posting bail.

Arrested on 6 charges

Sidney E. Roberts, 50, of Pontoon Beach was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol at 12:26 a.m. Nov. 18.

Pontoon Beach police said they stopped his car when it failed to negotiate a turn at a slow rate of speed onto Lake Drive from Illinois 162. Police said he was "using the whole road" and did not pull over when lights were actuated.

Roberts was subsequently charged with operating an uninsured vehicle, improper lane usage, failure to wear a seatbelt, and driving with a suspended license. A check of records showed he was also wanted by Illinois State Police on a warrant for failure to appear on a previous DUI charge.

Roberts was held at the Madison County Jail pending $608 bail.

Auto hits fence, ditch

Damon W. Kopsky, 32, of Janday Lane was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol at 7:38 p.m. Nov. 18, when his 1985 BMW 325E ran off the roadway and struck a fence. Granite City police said Kopsky was trying to remove his vehicle from a ditch on Maryville Road about 300 feet south of Pontoon Road when they arrived at the scene.

Kopsky also was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

He posted $102 cash and his driver's license as bail.

Home damaged by smoke

Smoke and fumes from a fire caused an estimated $25,000 damage to a home at 2704 Lincoln Avenue at 11 a.m. Wednesday. The fire was under control "in about 10 minutes," according to acting Captain Ron Ashby. But smoke, which filled the house, caused extensive damage, Ashby related.

The blaze originated in a couch in the family room. The resident, Anna Madron, was not home at the time.

Elaine Weeks of Glen Carbon owns the one-story building.

Booked for trespassing

Gary Lee Harris, 52, of Lakeview Drive, Pontoon Beach, reported to the Granite City police station on Nov. 16 in response to a warrant being issued for his arrest on a charge of criminal trespass to property. He posted $102 bail and was released, pending a hearing.

Blue bird program for federal retirees

Fifty-eight members attended the Nov. 5 meeting of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees at the Melvin Price Support Center.

Alex Duccini, Chapter 1067 president, called the meeting to order and Tharah Erney gave the invocation.

The guest speaker was Tom Hayden, who gave a slide presentation about blue birds.

The North American Blue Bird Society is trying to get the blue bird population started again by making blue bird houses available, Hayden said.

Katherine Schockley gave the secretary's report and Helen Martin, the treasurer's report. Sidney Sternberg was a guest.

Duccini gave a legislative summary, stating that federal annuitants should receive a 5.4 percent cost-of-living (COLA) increase on their Jan. 1 checks.

Mayme Vailow of the Sunshine Committee reported Larry Hengehold, a past president, has been ill. Elmer Ebrecht of the Program Committee said a Christmas party is planned at the December meeting.

The next meeting will be Monday, Dec. 10, at 11:30 a.m. at the Melvin Price Support Center. Any retired federal employee who would like to join or visit a NARFE meeting may call 931-2118 for information.

Parents key to controlling day care ills

By Jane Cosby
Correspondent

Just like love and marriage and a horse and carriage, kids and colds seem to go together.

This certainly is not a new phenomenon. But the difficulty parents have balancing the needs of a sick child with their need to show up for work, is relatively new.

"Parents are in a real tough position," said Judy Peters, a registered nurse who works at the Child Development Center at St. Louis Community College at Florissant Valley. The center is a licensed day-care center that also serves as a laboratory school for students in the college's child-care program.

"We don't have the facilities to care for sick kids," Peters said. Peters is the center's nurse and conducts daily health checks on incoming children to determine whether any are too sick to attend school that day.

The screening that she does each morning is one way of practicing preventive medicine to keep disease from spreading throughout the center, Peters said.

"Parents can tell if a child is really sick. You know your child better than anyone else," Peters advised parents. "If the child was up during the night, is laying around or listless, then he needs to be at home."

Peters discussed some of the symptoms that could indicate a contagious disease and provided these guidelines for parents to use in deciding when a child is ready to go back to school.

"Fever: Any temperature higher than 101 is cause for concern, although children can be sick without exhibiting a fever."

"Vomiting and diarrhea: Repeated vomiting is an indication the child is sick and not just reacting to something he ate. Diarrhea is defined as frequent and watery stools. When the child has exhibited either of these symptoms for 24 hours and can eat a normal diet, he is ready to return to school."

"Runny nose: If drainage from the nose is clear, there is no problem with the child attending school. A yellow-green discharge indicates an infection and the need for antibiotics. The child may return to school after 24 hours."

"Coughing: Most coughs should start to improve after three to four days. If the cough is producing phlegm, the child should be seen by a doctor and can return to school 24 hours after the productive coughing subsides."

Audiologists brushing up on hearing

GRANITE CITY — Two of St. Elizabeth Medical Center's audiologists recently attended an educational seminar in Eden Prairie, Minn.

David Heffner of Florissant and Sheila Kutz of Marine attended a seminar to enhance the hearing aid testing, fitting and troubleshooting skills they use daily in the hearing aid dispensing program the SEMC Audiology Department offers.

The first day focused on testing and fitting from a new line of aids designed to help those with mild nerve deafness. The second day featured hands-on, modification and repair.

The aim of the hearing aid dispensing program at SEMC is to provide members of the community with a reliable and trustworthy source for hearing testing and hearing aids. It also provides counseling on the realities of hearing loss and living with a hearing aid.

"People are becoming more aware of hearing loss and the alternatives they can pursue to improve their hearing. They are no longer satisfied with the status quo. They understand that a hearing aid doesn't carry any stigma with it," Kutz said. "A hearing aid is no more of an inconvenience than a pair of glasses. As more and more people accept this, there is more need for the services we provide. A hearing aid can give a person a new lease on life."

The Audiology Department has offices in the medical center and in the Ginger Creek Hearing Center, No. 9 Professional Park, Edwardsville.

School tax hearing set

VENICE — Community Unit School District 3 will hold a public hearing at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 29, for the purpose of explaining the proposed increase in its tax levy for 1990.

According to Venice Board of Education Secretary Alvester Salmund, the increase from the tax extension for 1989 is estimated at 34.77 percent.

Last year's property tax levy amounted to $418,468. The proposed new levy is $564,000.

Superintendent Robert Vickers said the increase is mainly due to "fort immunity," coverage in the event of court judgments, which did not appear in last year's levy.

All other items are "pretty much the same," with allowances for inflation, Vickers said.

The hearing will be held in the board meeting room located in the school administrative offices at Seventh Street and Broadway.

State to halt long-distance dental visits

By Dennis McMurray

Staff writer

SPRINGFIELD — Medicaid patients won't be hauling any more Springfield-area taxicabs in order to get to dental appointments in Alton.

The director of the Illinois Department of Public Aid ordered a halt Nov. 19 to such trips to the Southern Illinois University dental school clinic in Alton.

An article in the Alton Telegraph had reported the 100-mile round trips of two Medicaid patients to the clinic operated by the SIU School of Dental Medicine.

Public Aid Director Kathleen Kustra has directed the department's medical division to "take whatever steps are necessary" to avoid sending any more Springfield-Medicaid patients to Alton for dental care, agency spokesman Dean Schott said.

The state agency paid $140 for each round trip because the Springfield Public Aid office had not been able to find an orthodontist or oral surgeon there who would treat Medicaid patients, Schott said.

Officials of Public Aid and Delta Dental Plan, the private firm that contracts to provide dental services, are working on signing up more dentists in Springfield, he said.

Kustra first learned of the long-distance commuting when she visited the agency's Springfield office in August.

She "indicated to employees that she was terribly upset and found it totally inappropriate and a poor use of taxpayers' dollars," Schott said.

The number of cab trips to the clinic had decreased since Kustra learned of the practice, he said.

The trips had averaged "about three or four a month" from May to August, he said.

Apparently only one trip to Alton had been made since August, he added. On Oct. 29, a stretcher-equipped van brought an elderly woman from a Springfield nursing home to have a tooth pulled, Schott said. The trip cost about $200.

Although the $140 flat rate negotiated with a Springfield cab company is less than the normal fare of about $200, Kustra still considered it a "poor use of money," Schott said.

The department's policy is for Medicaid patients who don't have cars to use the least expensive form of public transportation available in the area.

Amtrak's round-trip railroad passenger fare between Springfield and Alton is $18, but because of the train schedules, anyone traveling south to Alton would have to stay overnight.

Although an Illinois State Dental Society official said low reimbursement rates discouraged many private dentists from accepting Medicaid patients, Schott said he believed excessive paperwork and red tape constituted the main reason for Springfield dentists declining to accept Medicaid cases.

The Department of Public Aid and Delta Dental have recently worked out procedures that eliminate 75 percent of the paperwork and are attempting to recruit more dentists.

A Springfield orthodontist was recently found who would treat Medicaid clients, Schott said, and the agency is trying to find an oral surgeon.

Medical center laboratory earns praise

By Carol Winders

GRANITE CITY — The medical laboratory at St. Elizabeth Medical Center has received a two-year re-accreditation by the College of American Pathologists. The lab, which has been accredited by the CAP since 1981, is under the medical direction of Dr. Pamela Gronemeyer.

"It is a prestigious certification," said Lori Stanzel, manager of the SEMC laboratory. "CAP sets the standards of excellence in quality control and quality assurance in the laboratory field. This is why we choose to have them survey us."

According to Stanzel, it is not just a matter of getting ready for the inspection and then "resting on your laurels."

"The high standards are always there. They have to be. You have to keep everything in the lab up-to-date and the federal and state laws are always changing," she said.

"It is an ongoing process, and we work very hard to maintain quality and the performance standards we have set."

CAP inspectors from hospitals in Marion and Herrin made a full-day, on-site visit in September and found the lab met the necessary standards. The inspectors arrived early in the morning and finished their inspection about 4 p.m.

"Part of what makes the CAP inspection the best evaluation of a lab's ability is that it is a peer appraisal," she said. "Who better to judge how a lab performs than someone who works in a lab every day?"

After their thorough scrutiny, the CAP representatives summarized their findings. The lab was recommended for accreditation without question.

"They did find a few minimal deficiencies," Stanzel said. "You almost always have a few little things to correct. Mostly, it was rewording a section of a policy or some other small matter of interpretation."

"The pathologist who was inspecting said he was both amazed and impressed with our data processing capabilities," Stanzel said. "Most hospitals go out and buy laboratory information systems for hundreds of thousands of dollars."

"Our data processing system was developed totally in-house. The inspector was amazed that we would, in his words, 'tackle such a gargantuan task.' He commented we had accomplished our task with excellence."

The data processing area is the hub of lab activities. Data processing is responsible for results of tests, printing out billing, and all the forms for the lab.

The associates in data processing include: Don Duesch, programmer; senior operators Cheryl McFadden and Kathy Mercille; and operators Jeff Snagor and Rhonda Anderson. According to Stanzel, they worked hard to deserve the CAP praise.

"Because of changes in federal regulations, they had 80 new procedures to document," Stanzel said. "Each associate in data processing is trained to troubleshoot. They are almost on-call 24 hours a day, because they are responsible for keeping the system up. I'm proud of the work they've done."

The data processing crew members won't get a chance to relax. They are currently involved in an update to their system.

"Within a few weeks, we hope to have a terminal at each nurse's station," Stanzel said. "The nurses will be able to look up the lab records of each patient instantly."

The new installations will start in the Critical Care Unit. Interim reports will be issued throughout the day, listing the tests done on each patient, by floor.

At midnight, the composite reports will be updated, and the nurses can see what tests have been performed for their patients. Results will be stored for 30 days.

"This means that if a patient is admitted in the middle of the night, the nurse can look in the morning and instantly see what tests were done," Stanzel said. "The bigger hospitals all have systems like this, but they bought the whole system. Ours was developed here."

Data processing was not the only area singled out by the CAP inspectors. Other areas of the lab earned commendation, too.

"Everybody in the lab deserves praise," Stanzel said. "We have a quality lab, and always perform with excellence. I especially thank the section supervisors for their work."

The lab section supervisors are: Ed Roach, chemistry; Pat Swecker, blood bank; Rosemary Thomas, hematology; Bob Wagner, microbiology; and Brenda Gray, pathology-histology.

"These are the individuals responsible for having met the CAP criteria through their procedure manuals, proficiency testing, quality control and quality assurance," Stanzel said.

"It takes the whole lab to have a quality lab, but the section supervisors have to do all the paperwork to prepare for the survey and are responsible for correcting any deficiencies."

The lab also has kept pace with changing Occupational Health and Safety Administration regulations, thanks largely to the work of Diane Griffith, newly appointed quality assurance coordinator.

"Diane spent many hours on the manuals for safety and infection control so they would meet the new OSHA regulations," Stanzel said. "This required a lot of study on her part and interpretation of regulations now governing these areas of laboratory medicine."

Griffith was formerly the evening supervisor in the lab. She recently completed her master's degree in business at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"Since the inspectors are from other hospitals, they will often ask for a copy of something they think is well done, so they can use it at their lab," she said. "We had several requests for copies of particular procedures."

"It makes the people who do the work feel proud of their department. It shows they're doing things the right way. We are always happy to share."

"The outside inspection is done every two years," Stanzel said. "However, we perform an interim self-inspection during the off years, following the same process and checklist. That way, we are inspected every year and know our deficiencies before the next peer review."

DON'T MAKE THIS A FAMILIAR SIGHT IN YOUR COMMUNITY

Don't make this a familiar sight!

Most stores close because local people did too much shopping out of town. In fact, there are many cases where most of the retail businesses in a community have closed.

If that were to happen here, who would be left to pay this community's taxes? The empty store fronts wouldn't be able to pay their share.

Who would be contributing work and money toward local groups and projects that we all are interested in?

Keeping our home community healthy is everyone's responsibility and the results benefit us all.

Coolidge students of month chosen

Coolidge Junior High has selected two young people, Pat Curry and Mandy Schermer, as the "Students of the Month" for November.

Mandy Schermer is an active seventh grade student. A cheerleader and a member of Coolidge Student Council, she also played on the volleyball team and will be soon competing with other Coolidge students in the Knowledge Master's Open.

Mandy's teachers stated: "She is an excellent student, always prepared, always has her homework, and does all assignments to the best of her ability."

"She makes good use of her time in class, shows initiative and has a willingness to work as well as improve."

Mandy's hobbies include swimming, collecting figurines and talking on the phone with her friends.

She is the daughter of Linda and David Schermer.

Pat Curry is an eighth grader very involved with sports.

He is a varsity member of the

football, basketball and track teams. He is a member of the Coolidge Student Council and an office worker.

Pat's teachers said: "Brains, brawn, personality and leadership! Pat has it all. His manners are impeccable. He is a joy to have in class!"

Pat is the son of Judy and Larry Curry.

The faculty and administration are striving this year to recognize the many good students who contribute to the positive environment at Coolidge.

Students are nominated for "Student of the Month" by classroom teachers and the selection is made by a teacher committee, working from a specific criteria.

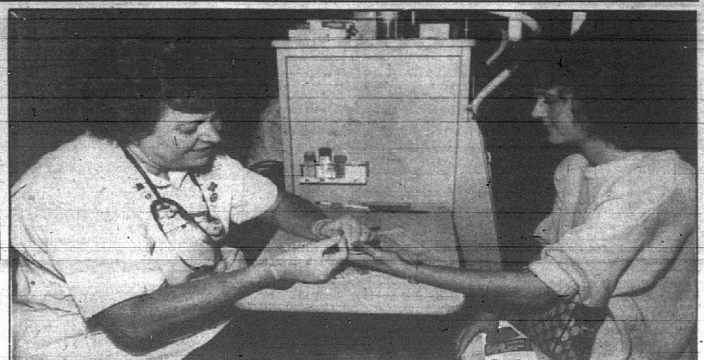

These two students were selected because of their scholastic ability, citizenship, cooperation, positive attitude and overall character.

Mitchell couple takes trip down memory lane

Maxine Duniphan covers the Mitchell area for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 931-2714.

Bill and Opal Davis of Mueller Avenue, have returned from Boyle, Miss., where they took "a trip down memory lane" as they drove through the Mississippi countryside where Opal grew up.

The couple enjoyed the autumn colors along a country road that went to the homestead where Opal formerly resided, and to Boyle Senior High School that she had attended and which the couple discovered was being demolished.

The Davis' also attended the Boyle Senior High reunion held for all former students.

More than 300 attended the reunion at the Lincoln Country Club in nearby Lincoln, Miss., home of Delta State Teachers College.

Several former students of Boyle High came to the reunion from as far away as Canada, Alaska and Hawaii and many others present were from different areas of the United States.

Those at reunion ranged in age from 83 years to many in their early 20s.

"A grand time was had by all," Opal Davis said.

Ralph and Jenly Thomas of Fleming Avenue have returned from a vacation trip through

Maxine Duniphan

Tennessee, North Carolina and the Smokey Mountains.

They traveled first to Christopher, Ill., where they spent a few days visiting her cousin and husband, Joyce and Bill Ashmore, and daughter, Shawana, before continuing the vacation, accompanied by the Ashmores.

A sight-seeing tour of the Pigeon Forge and Gatlinburg, Tenn., area was followed by a trip into the Smokey Mountains to enjoy the fall foliage and the quaint country shops.

They also visited the Cherokee Indian Reservation in North Carolina. At the Indian Trading Post, they posed for pictures with a store-front Indian chief figure.

Student of the Week honors at Mitchell School for the week of Nov. 5 have been announced. Those named were:

Kindergarten pupils, Joshua Jackson and Danielle Reed, morning class; and Lesley Dote and Matthew Gergen, afternoon class.

The children were selected for improvement in their basic skills and attitude.

Jim and Jert Schieb and their grandson, Paul Richter, 8, have returned from Branson, Mo. The Schiebs make the trip each year to see the season's closing performance by The Foggy River Boys Band.

In Branson, they met friends from Pontoon Beach, including Jerry and Mary Warren, Tom and Lynn Jeter, Stephen Patterson and Janet Barringer.

On Saturday evening, John Mitchell, a member of the Foggy River Boys Band, his wife, Sue, and their daughter, Shanna, visited the Schiebs and several friends of the local couple prior to the show.

The Schiebs also took their grandson to Table Rock Lake for a ride on an amphibious vehicle (duck) and conveyance boat and the boy received a "duck license."

Later, they returned to Silver

Dollar City, where Paul learned how to make a rope and press coins at the craft shows.

Before leaving the Branson area, the Schiebs called on Bob Hubbard, also a member of the Foggy River Boys Band, and his wife, Reba. They also visited with old friends, Glen and Maxine Turpin and their daughters, Nancy Chism and Bonnie Arnold.

Woolworth

"Woolworth's is staying downtown, where it has been since 1916," Nagrocki said. He has managed the store since October 1989, and says he would know of any move "at least a year in advance."

Chuck Murray, Woolworth's Midwest operations manager in Chicago, confirmed Nagrocki's comments. Murray said he visited the downtown Granite City store several months ago and has received information from a developer "of a strip (retailing) center" on National Road interested in attracting the store.

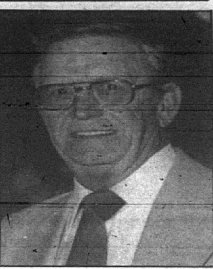

Murray said, "Current plans are to remain (downtown) as long as the store remains viable."

He said plans call for minor renovations to the retail facility in the near future.

Nagrocki said the renovations will include a new checkout system and new lettering for the sign above the building.

Murray said, "We have served several generations of customers in the downtown area, and we hope to remain there for a long time to come."

the defendant and his attorney; that the board allowed police reports containing hearsay to be admitted as evidence; that witnesses were allowed to testify to broad general conclusions and denied the defendant the right to cross-examine them; and that the defense was not allowed to attempt to impeach the credibility of Knight.

Hutnick said Friday that the court clerk had been notified to prepare a transcript of the hearings, which were closed. He said anyone reading the transcript will "immediately be able to identify these and other violations."

David Antognoli of Granite City, the attorney for the board, said he was bound not to comment on what happened in a closed hearing. He said he considered the proceedings closed "until when or if the transcript is published."

Melton said Friday he doesn't believe the board has anything to fear from the transcript.

"I think you will find everything was done as fairly as possible, although I wouldn't necessarily expect Mr. Hutnick to agree," Melton said.

Melton said the first hearing was limited strictly to the merits of the single charge, relating to the Aug. 11 incident, and that after the guilty finding both sides were allowed to present evidence concerning Duncan's overall performance.

"It was a more than fair hearing and the punishment was fair," Melton said.

"I can't see a court overturning the decision."

One of the reasons listed in Melton's brief was that Melton "rehabilitating witnesses," a charge Melton said Hutnick also made during the hearing.

"It seems to me that what it means," Melton said. According to legal experts, the term means giving a witness a chance, after examination, to make up for any damage done to his credibility during cross-examination.

Melton said he is not surprised by the complaint's charges of personal bias and wrongdoing because "that's how Mr. Hutnick conducted the hearing."

He wanted to accuse everyone, else, from the chief to the board's attorney, of having done something to the plaintiff. "It seemed to me he didn't address any mitigating circumstances that would have helped him."

The complaint asks that the court reinstate Duncan without suspension and bar the city from imposing any other punishment pending the outcome of the review.

Costello

Iraq.
Costello said the delegation would be focusing on the President's recent decision to send additional troops to Saudi Arabia, as well as examining living conditions and the status of various military equipment used by American troops.

"One of my main interests is to see the deployment of this new 200,000-troop increase and how it serves our military interests in both a defensive and offensive capacity," Costello said.

"At a cost of $60 million per day, we in the Congress will be asked to first hand the product of these expenditures."

Costello also noted the unique role of Scott Air Force Base in Operation Desert Shield. Scott, located in St. Clair County, is home to the U.S. Transportation Command and the Military Airlift Command.

"In terms of massive logistical transport of troops and equipment, Scott has been a valuable resource of military capability," Costello said.

"This visit will allow me to see the end result of the men and women at Scott who have worked hard for almost four months to make this operation possible."

Costello, who has a son with the Army's 82nd Airborne deployed in Saudi Arabia, said that upon return he expected to contact families in the 21st Congressional District who have family members serving in the Persian Gulf, personally brief them on his trip.

Metro Link

open in July 1993.
Because of the recent change in the airport's master plan, an additional $25 million in funding for Metro Link is expected from federal sources. The change is under way about extending the project to Scott Air Force Base, Belleville.

Federal funds account for about 75 percent of the total construction cost.

But when all is said and done, the rail system will face funding problems for its operation because the Bi-State Development Agency will have to foot the day-to-day bills.

"It's not really an Illinois issue at this point, but as things stand, I have serious doubts that the money will be there to operate the system," Sterman said.

While Bi-State officials see a less bleak picture, pointing toward a $10 million a year budget allocation for the rail line, they admit serious questions linger about the sources of funding.

"He [Sterman] was very honestly valid point," said Steve Willis, Bi-State's general manager for Metro Link engineering and construction.

"But I certainly don't expect to see the rail system just sitting there," Willis said.

Although Bi-State's projected $10 million allocation could keep the rail line running, Willis said, "We're only looking at a 50 percent recovery from fare box revenues."

On paper, that would have the rail line running at a $5 million deficit from the very first passenger. With projections that call for 17,000 passengers a day to use the system, a tax increase of some sort would be "inevitable," Willis said.

Although Sterman sees a reduction in current bus service in order to meet the projected deficit, Willis says current operations will remain unchanged. In fact, Willis said an increase of service would be logical in order to feed the rail line.

"The answer is not cutting service and pillaging the current bus system," he said. "But a Finalists are scheduled to be interviewed Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in Edwardsville. Unsuccessful applicants should be notified by then, Shimkus said.

He declined to name any of the finalists, but the two current deputies who did not apply are Grace Koelker and Boyd Zimmerman. Koelker is chief deputy and Zimmerman is deputy supervisor of mobile homes.

Those two vacancies will be filled relatively quickly, but it is uncertain when a decision will be made on the other jobs, Shimkus said.

Now employees in the office are union members and cannot be fired without cause. Shimkus said he tried unsuccessfully to meet last week with Henkhaus to discuss the transition. Shimkus said he will call Henkhaus again Monday.

Those two vacancies will be filled relatively quickly, but it is uncertain when a decision will be made on the other jobs, Shimkus said.

Keck Jewelers

Dear Customer, Dennis Keck, President and owner of Keck Jewelers, has announced the closing of their retail division. Everything must go, even the counters. Going you ask? Going Where? One thing Dennis is not doing and that is going out of business, by a long shot. He is just moving. Dennis has purchased a building located on Lincoln Trail where he will be setting up his expanding and ever growing jewelry Trade Shop business. The Trade Shop will service many customers and businesses alike in Missouri and Illinois areas. Dennis would like to clarify the word "Trade Shop." Did you ever ask yourself these questions? Where can I get my beautiful diamond ring sized or repaired, chain soldered, that special ring made that I cannot locate. The answer is very simple. Keck Jewelers. That is what a Trade Shop does and more. This is why we are closing our retail division at the plaza and moving to our new building at Lincoln Trail. As President and owner of Keck Jewelers, I would like to add that any merchandise sold during the closing of our retail division can be serviced at our new location, I guarantee it. Also I will meet or beat any price of equal quality and size during our closing. Once again I would like to thank family, friends, and you the customer for your business and support.

P.S. Look for our grand opening announcement. Thank You, Dennis Keck

Girls stress defense

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — With the graduation of two 1,000-point career scorers, the Lady Warrior basketball team will be hard-pressed to generate as much offense this year. So Allen Lobdell will try to compensate by solidifying the defense.

Center Jennifer Cavaness and guard Kim Pawlak completed high-scoring prep careers last year as the Lady Warriors went 18-6 and won their second straight regional title. Also graduated are two other solid contributors from the two regional champions — forwards Priscilla Meyenburg and Michelle Sequette.

"I can't replace that offense yet, but I am confident I can replace the defense," said Lobdell, beginning his second year at the helm.

One of Lobdell's main goals for the season, which begins Monday at home against Madison (4th game at 6 p.m.), will be to lower the Lady Warriors' points-per-game average (45.0 last year, 11th in the area). He will stay with the same style of zone defense he initiated last year.

"Defense will be the key this year," Lobdell said. "I wasn't happy with the number of points we gave up. But now that the girls have had that extra year to adapt to my system, maybe we can accomplish that."

Lobdell hasn't lost any faith in his team's offensive capabilities. The attack will be spearheaded by senior guard Addie Lenzi (4.4 points, 5.6 assists) and junior forward Karen Sykes (6.3 points, 4.0 rebounds), both of whom were instrumental in Granite City's considerable success a year ago.

"I think Karen and Addie can become half of our offense instead of the two-fifths they contributed last year," said Lobdell. "They are willing to become a bigger part of the offense."

Lenzi, a tremendous athlete and the Lady Warriors' best ballhandler, will be counted on to run the offense and take more shots from the perimeter. She was a 36.7 percent shooter from three-point range a year ago. Sykes, a 51.2 percent shooter, will be the key to the inside game. Lobdell has decided to move Sykes from the baseline to a wing position in an attempt to let her handle the ball more.

"Addie will take some shots that she passed up a year ago and Karen should be strong underneath," Lobdell said. "We

Trojanettes figuring to be much improved

MADISON — The Trojanettes won't have to do much to improve on last year's 3-13 record — except make a few more baskets.

"Fourth-year coach Gayle McRoberts thinks she has the personnel to do just that, and she's quite excited about the 1990-91 season, which opens for Madison on Monday in Granite City."

"Last year we had one girl who scored — Marviss Jones," said McRoberts. "This year we have five or six girls who have the ability to put the ball in the hoop."

Jones was eighth in the area with a 16.6 scoring average last year and also pulled down 14 rebounds per game.

Returning starters this year include seniors Kim Fifer, Katrina Garrett and Vanetta Jackson. Juniors rotating into starting positions are Teresa Evans, Nerissa Heard, Pashen Horton and Kandas Mosby. Garrett played in only four games last year, but averaged 21 points in those games.

"Our shooting percentage was terrible last year," said McRoberts. "With the capability of this year's shooters combined with our height (four players over 5-9), we have to improve over last year's record. These girls have been playing together since seventh grade, and most of them have been playing varsity since they were freshmen. It's their turn, and they are ready."

Wrestlers off to fast start with 2 wins

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Moments after the Warrior wrestlers wrapped up their second dual meet win on Wednesday, assistant coach Greg Garland remarked to his brother Mike that some fans had likened the black-clad head coach to Jerry Glanville.

"All I'm missing is that big belt buckle," Garland said.

While Glanville's Atlanta Falcons have struggled this year, the Warriors started the season in dominating fashion as they were in complete control of both matches from start to finish.

"It's always good to start out like this," Garland said. "The kids have worked hard in practice and they pay off in this type of effort."

Sophomore Pat Scheffer (103 pounds) opened the evening by pinning Carbondale's Antwan Penn in 53 seconds, which turned out to be the quickest pinfall of the evening.

"Pat got some work in this spring and summer, and that has really helped him," said Garland. "Hopefully the other guys will catch on to that early-season work."

Ryan King, the Warriors' lone state qualifier a year ago, began his junior season with a bang by gaining a 15-0 technical fall win over Jesse Thornton.

"Ryan has started out like he finished last year," Garland said.

The Warriors benefitted from four forfeits by Carbondale, Dan Hicks (130), Scott Wilson (171), Mark Cotter (189) and Al Willard (heavyweight) picked up their first wins without taking the mat.

"Carbondale was a state qualifier last year," said Garland. "I thought they would have a full team, but football has left them a few guys short. They have a solid program and they have a good coach, so they'll be back."

The Warriors just lost in the state football semifinals on Nov. 17. Also winning against them were Chris Hoffstot (135) with a pinfall at 3:24 over Damien Jones; Jerry Heuschman (140), who pinned Nate McDaniel in 2:35; and Jeff Heuschman (145) won as a result of an ankle injury sustained by Stefan Golanos at 1:23.

Granite City had little difficulty beating Centralia as they took a 57-0 lead by winning the first 11 matches before Matt Ali of the Orphans avoided a shutout by pinning Cotter at 2:38 in the 189 match. Scheffer (1:35), King (4:43), Chris Hass (3:52), McKeehan (1:09), Hicks (3:18), Jeff Heuschman (5:10) and Scott Simon (3:48) had pins.

"This is only two matches and it only gets harder from here," said Garland. "Tonight I was just looking to see if the boys could give me six minutes, and they were able to do that."

NOTES: Edwardsville also defeated Carbondale 42-32 and Centralia 47-33. The Warriors and Tigers will square off in a dual meet in Edwardsville on Thursday.

Warriors get second in final Journal poll

By Jim Woodcock
Staff writer

If pre-season polls can be considered predictors, perhaps the Suburban Journal's panel of soccer coaches has a future in forecasting the weather...or earthquakes.

The 15 coaches were certainly on the mark in the pre-season poll taken in August, when they chose St. Louis University High as the area's top soccer team. Twelve weeks later, the coaches' final poll is out — and the Junior Bills are still on top.

It wasn't always that way this season for the Junior Bills, who owned a rather ordinary 8-7-2 record in October. SLUH quickly fell out of the No. 1 slot — which was periodically occupied by Vianney, DeMet and Illinois state champion Granite City — and usually hovered somewhere in the lower half of the top 10 while playing one of the area's toughest schedules.

However, the Junior Bills ended the season with a 9-0-2 run that took them to the Missouri 4A title match against rival CBC. Last Saturday's 3-1 championship decision over the Cadets convinced warriors that the Junior Bills were deserving of ending the season on top of the poll.

Granite City, last week's No. 1 team, fell to No. 2, despite beating SLUH 2-1 during the regular season. The only newcomer to the final poll from last week's top 10 is the appearance of Col-linville, which lost 1-0 to Granite City in the super-sectional.

Three teams in the pre-season top 10 — Hazelwood Central, Parkway West and Bethalto Civic Memorial — did not finish in the final running. Meanwhile, Oakville finished No. 5, the same spot it earned in the pre-season survey.

GCHS has tickets for Saturday Shootout

Tickets for the Collinsville Superfans Shootout are on sale now at Granite City High School. The Warrior basketball team will face Carbondale in the second of four games at Fletcher Gym at 8 p.m. Dec. 1. The first game features Madison against Staunton at 4:30 p.m.

Collinsville takes on Chicago King in the third game of the evening before East St. Louis Lincoln closes out the card with a game against Chicago Gordon Tech.

Tickets are $5 to sit in the upper level and $7 for the lower level. Tickets are on sale at the high school main office during school hours.

haven't quite decided yet whether to run a one- or two-guard offense, but we will have to be more patient with the shots we take no matter what."

Lobdell has not settled on a definite starting lineup after Lenzi and Sykes. The other three spots are up for grabs depending on the type of offense used.

In the backcourt, senior Andrea Cline has the most varsity experience among the rest and is a likely candidate to start alongside Lenzi. Juniors Jennifer Wheeler and Jennifer Wortham will also see action as well as Danish exchange student Louise Christensen.

"Granite City might lack the true center they had in Cavaness the past few years, but the Lady Warriors aren't lacking in height as five forwards, including Sykes, are 5-9 or taller."

Senior Dixie Price, a team-mate of Cavaness on the select

Allen Lobdell
... stressing defense

Kutis team in St. Louis, transferred from Edwardsville and should see a great deal of action up front. Also to be shuttled in and out of the frontcourt are sophomores Dana Dresch and Stephanie Kult. But the one player who could yet make the biggest impact is 5-11 freshman Jamie Cavaness, Jennifer's sister.

Cavaness was, for the most part, the basketball team at Grigsby Junior High School last year, and it will be interesting to see how she adjusts to high school play. Lobdell doesn't plan to rush her, but it is inevitable that Cavaness will become an important part of the team this year.

"Right now she is as aggressive as anyone," Lobdell said. "We'll work her a lot in JV games because she is limited in the number of varsity quarters she can play. The only thing she lacks is strength, and we have her on a weight program. She'll only get stronger."

"She'll see her share of playing time against Madison, but she will have to earn a starting position like the rest of them."

The Lady Warriors will again have their hands full in the Southwestern Conference. Belleville West returns the entire starting lineup from a 23-2 team which handed Granite City three of its six losses last season. Belleville East upset West in the regional last year and has one of the area's stingiest defenses.

Granite City has the inside track on third place, but will be pushed by Collinsville, Alton and East St. Louis, although the Lady Hawks lost 62 junior center Cheryl Stinchfield, who transferred to Southwestern Plaza.

"I'm not looking for 18 wins again, but we can be better than average and stay above .500," Lobdell said. "We'll try to improve on the offense and work to peak at the regional like we did last year."

Tammy LeVault gets all-NIHC recognition

Tammy LeVault, a 1988 graduate of Granite City High School, has been selected to the 1990 All-Northern Illinois Intercollegiate Conference volleyball team.

LeVault is a junior hitter for the Aurora (Ill.) University team coached by Brenda Hillman. She also won all-NIHC honors in 1989.

"Tammy had another outstanding season in 1990," Hillman said. "She has been a constant force for us along the net since her freshman year."

The Spartans finished with a 25-11 record, including second in the NIHC with a 6-2 league mark. Included was a landmark 15-12, 0-15, 19-17, 15-12 win over top rival Illinois Benedictine College, the first in 10 years for AU over IBC. Hillman was named the NIHC Coach of the Year.

Gripping suspense and compelling performances are not strong areas for "Reversal of Fortune" (#14), a thoroughly unfortunate novel based on David Dershowitz's book about a life-and-death case of a murderer that went awry, with tragic results nevertheless.

Jeremy Irons is one-dimensional as Claus von Bulow, an apparently manipulative English attorney who makes a career out of womanizing for money. His marriage to an East German woman is a disaster. Sunny von Bulow, makes headlines when she goes into an irreversible, comatose condition after being apparently guilty of trying to murder his wife by giving her massive injections of insulin.

Sunny von Bulow is permanently disabled and she doesn't even exist in that state to this day.

Claus von Bulow eventually has his conviction overturned after hiring the talented defense attorney and Harvard law professor Alan Dershowitz, played by Ron Silver, who systematically takes apart von Bulow's prosecution and almost ruins Sunny von Bulow's reputation in the bargain.

"Reversal of Fortune" has a sickening narrative style in which the comatose Sunny narrates her own story, starting with an opening shot of her in a hospital bed saying she is going to tell us what happened and let us be the judge. What we see are a series of flashbacks and real-time scenes that come across as a pathetically veiled attempt to make Claus look like a victim and Dershowitz just one step beneath a saintly knight of the illegally oppressed.

Glenn Close is practically wasted as Sunny von Bulow, a role that is so pathetic, it is almost unplayable. "Reversal of Fortune" is neither clever nor laudable. Like the story it so poorly chronicles, it is a totally pitiful event.

Rated R (language, violence, nude scene in hospital). Running time: 110 minutes. Rating based on four stars.

Just because you cannot afford a ticket to France does not mean you have to miss the Cans Film Festival. Not Cannes. Cans.

All you have to do is take a can of food from the cupboard during the day, on Saturday, Dec. 1, and head for any Wehrenberg theater. The can of food not only will get you in to see most films prior to the theaters' rush-hour shows; it will help the Salvation Army fill holiday food baskets for the hungry.

Only a few films will not be eligible for the promotion; theaters should have details on which movies are not included in the offer within a week of the promotion, a spokesman for Wehrenberg said.

It's still a lot after taxes
Everybody hears about the mega-salaries of the superstars in the movie business. Jack Nicholson commands $20 million a picture, plus a percentage of the gross ticket sales; Michael Douglas gets $15 million, plus a share of profits.

But what about the "ordinary" actor; the regular, well-known, hard-worker who has not yet reached superstar status?

A source who declines to be named, principally as a means of keeping a job, recently shared a little inside information about "Home Alone," the new $23 million family comedy from Hughes Entertainment.

Company owner John Hughes, who produced the film and wrote the script, received a minimum guarantee of $5 million, plus an undisclosed share of the profits from the film about a young boy who accidentally gets left alone at home during a burglary.

Catherine O'Hara, who plays the boy's mother, was paid $200,000, "thanks in large measure to the success of her last picture, 'Beetlejuice,'" with Michael Keaton. Joe Pesci was paid $400,000 for his work in "Home Alone," although his price tag soon most likely will double because of the recent critical praise he received for his work in "G...".

And poor little Macauley Culkin, the 8-year-old star of "Home Alone," was paid only $7,000 a week with a guarantee of at least 12 weeks work.

Move over Memphis Belle
The Memphis Belle, the B-17 that became the first bomber to survive 25 missions over Nazi-occupied Europe, has found renewed fame recently thanks to the film of the same name.

But St. Louisans also should know about the Sweet 17, a counterpart of the Memphis Belle that was flown by Alexander Thomas, a retired engineering employee from McDonnell Aircraft Co. in St. Louis.

Thomas, 72, was a captain in the 91st Bomber Group of the Army Air Corp. which flew out of the Royal Air Force base at Bassingbourn, England, the same field where the Memphis Belle was stationed. Thomas and his crew flew with the 323rd squadron; the Memphis Belle was in the 324th.

Between March and June of 1944, Thomas and his crew flew 35 missions without a single casualty; one crewman on the Memphis Belle was slightly injured during its streak.
